Subject: Physical Security

Just got done with your video presentation !!! WOW ! excellent. I'm Very impressed. I am going to make it a point to check out building and lumber stores to see if we have these items. I am going to depart copies of your video to what is left of our crime prevention section and get them up to speed.

I would also like to send your video to our State Crime Prevention Unit and have them present this also. I think they are still back with the 3" screws like I was.

Does the lamented glass come in thermal pane style ? or is it considered for thermal panes??

Do you advocate using the reinforcer plate (on retro fit) on the hinge side also??? On the new construction is it automatically used? Will you also send me an electronic copy of the residential security brochure? and is it ok, to pass it out with you getting full credit of course?

Thanks for the info, I really appreciate your work in the physical security area. This is great stuff !!!! Dale
